CABOT.

Sudden Death of Miss Martha Bickford Last Friday.

Miss Martha Bickford died very suddenly at her home last Friday morning. She arose in her usual health, but soon complained of being tired. A physician was summoned from across the way, but to no avail, as she expired in a short time. Miss Bickford had been a lifelong resident of Cabot and for nearly 20 years had lived in this village. She had passed the four score mark and the day before her death attended a missionary tea at the Congregational church vestry, where she always attended church until bodily infirmities deprived her of that privilege. She enjoyed the afternoon visiting with old friends and was in good spirits, but remarked to the men who carried her home that her usefulness was past and she should never go to the church again, and with the parting words, "God bless you all," she entered her home for the last time. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the house, Rev. W. T. Sparhawk officiating. Her remains were taken to East Cabot and laid at rest in the family lot.

Forty neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary Atkins on South Main street and gave a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Atkins Tuesday evening, which was a very enjoyable occasion and a complete surprise to the recently wedded couple. Cake and ice cream were served, Rev. E. E. Currier made a few remarks, presenting some silver and linen as tokens of love and esteem, to which Mr. Atkins responded in a very pleasant and appreciative way. They took the Thursday morning train for New York, where they will visit relatives a few days, sailing from there to Savannah, Ga., and on to Rome, where Mr. Atkins has a position as teacher. The best wishes of many friends go with them for their future prosperity.

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

HANSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Granville, Vt.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MAGAZINE REVIEW.

The End of the World.

What will be the end of the world? This is a question which was formerly asked of soothsayers and prophets and often answered by them with definite statements and dates which were, to those who believed them, to the last degree disquieting. Such prophets and prophecies have all been proved erroneous and the Millenarians and their kind have all been laughed out of serious consideration. Science has taught us better, and revised reasoning is now teaching us that our faith in the safety of the solar system is misplaced.

Instead of the eternally changeless procession of the planets about the sun and of our solar system about some other, greater sun, astronomers find grave evidence of what seems disorder in what we thought was perpetual perfection, a disorder which may, indeed probably will, some time wreck our own planet. It is possible—astronomically considered it is probable—that, unseen within the remote confines of space the vast mass of a dead world is hurtling toward our sun with inconceivable velocity. In time the two will come together and the immeasurable heat produced will make gas of granite and floating clouds of nebulae of us all; for thus worlds die and thus they are immediately in process of being born again, for out of the condensation of this nebula will come the beginnings of a new solar system which will, in the countless aeons of astronomical time, go through the same process of evolution and die—From "The End of the World," in September Technical World Magazine.

A Pepper Duel.

A certain literary and diplomatic friend of ours once took part in a pepper duel at a foreign restaurant. He was provoked to the contention by the quantity of stimulating condiment that a stranger across the table indulged in. The stranger sprinkled an unconscionable quantity of red pepper upon his food and proceeded to devour it, to the wonder and admiration of onlookers. Thereupon an astounded nonchalance the American swallowed an immense piece of chili pepper. Then the stranger added more red pepper, then the American another larger slice, covered with cayenne, and so on, till it seemed as if both would explode, while the other diners looked on aghast, the American finally winning out with a prodigious dose defying all emulation.—Century.

Dust a Thousand Feet Thick.

China has its "bad lands," all dust and dreariness, and its irrigation wheels, and its "soul appalling" Gobi desert, along whose southern boundary lies the Great Wall. In some of these regions the famous yellow dust of China lies to a depth of 1,000 feet, and when the wind blows the whole landscape is obscured. Yet it is upon this dust that the fertility of northern China depends. The Chinese call it "ginger powder."—Harper's.

Very Rude.

"Going to call on your new neighbors next door?"

"Not I. They insulted me the day they moved in."

"As to how?"

"Asked me to occupy a sofa on the sidewalk; said they feared I couldn't get a view from behind the blinds."—Pittsburgh Post.

LOST IN MONTREAL.

Girl Alleged to Be From Burlington Being Held There.

Burlington, Aug. 20.—Diligent search in this city and Winoski, failed to locate even in the remotest degree knowledge of a certain Huot, the 12 year old daughter of whom, according to the Montreal papers, was sent to Montreal by a woman friend, said to be a Miss Desautels of this city.

The girl turned up in Montreal on Saturday. According to the local papers she was shipped to a non-existent address in a suburb of Montreal, with no money in her pocket and not knowing where to turn. Her name was Germaine Huot and she was found crying on the main street of Montreal West, late at night and given shelter by Councillor Martel, of Blue Bonnets.

Germaine Huot says she is the daughter of Dr. Huot, formerly of St. Johns, Quebec, and later of Burlington, Vt. She was very little when he died and Germaine does not remember him. Her mother died three and a half years ago, she says, and she then went to live with a friend. Her mother left her $2,000 in the Banque de St. Jean, but in the failure of the bank this money was lost.

On Saturday last, she says, her friend brought her a half-rate ticket to Montreal West and put her on the train at Burlington. No money was given her but she was told that when she got to Montreal West she would be met by a Mrs. Lavoie, whose husband was a druggist and at whose home she would get a position as nursemaid.

She followed her instructions, but when she stepped off the train at Montreal West, there was no one to meet her. She then started out to look for Mrs. Lavoie's house. She arrived in the afternoon and kept up the search until about nine o'clock at night; but she could find no trace of Mrs. Lavoie. Finally a young boy named Shearwood went to Mr. Martel and told him that there was a little girl in the street and that she was looking for a place to sleep.

Mr. Martel took her into his home. Mr. Martel states that there is no druggist of the name of Lavoie in Montreal West or near there.

The young girl is about twelve years of age and has a winning face. Her hair and eyes are black, and she wears a pretty black dress trimmed with lace.

Anty Drudge's Vision.

Anty Drudge had finished her weekly wash before noon and she sat in her comfortable rocking chair and dozed.

And in a dream, she saw an unhappy woman bound with fetters, her right arm chained to a washboiler, her left arm to a washboard.

And the sun was setting and it was growing dark.

And she dreamed that she touched the shackles on each wrist of the woman with a bar of Fels-Naptha soap. And they fell off, and the woman arose glad and free—free from wasday drudgery for evermore. And Anty Drudge, arousing from her slumber, knew that what she dreamed was true.

The greatest emancipation proclamation since Lincoln's is printed on the back of the red and green Fels-Naptha soap wrapper. It is the directions for using Fels-Naptha in washing clothes.

It is also a different way of washing. It has freed millions of women from wasday drudgery for all time to come—from slavery to the old back-breaking, health wrecking methods which used to be thought necessary.

Are you still a slave to these old-fashioned methods, drudging away every wash-day, wasting your time and your work and wearing out clothes before their time? Then stop. Use Fels-Naptha. Wash your clothes in the new and easy way in cool or lukewarm water, summer or winter, without boiling or hard rubbing. Easy directions on the back of the Fels-Naptha wrapper.
